Tufts Loan Repayment Assistance Program

The Tufts Loan Repayment Assistance Program (LRAP) is a university-wide program that helps selected Tufts graduates working in public service pay a portion of their annual education loan bills. Believed to be the first university-wide program of this kind in the country, the purpose of Tufts LRAP is to encourage and enable Tufts graduates to pursue careers in public service and meeting an unmet need by reducing the extent to which their educational debt is a barrier to working in comparatively low-salaried jobs in the non-profit and public sectors. More information can be found on the Tufts website.

OTHER LOAN ASSISTANCE/REPAYMENT PROGRAMS

Federal employee Student Loan Repayment Program

Eligible federal employees may be considered for student loan repayment assistance up to $10,000 per calendar year, with a $60,000 lifetime maximum for any individual. The Student Loan Repayment Program (SLRP) is established as a management tool to facilitate the recruitment and retention of “highly qualified” candidates and employees. The SLRP authorizes the repayment of all or part of an outstanding federally-insured student loan obligation already incurred by a current employee or a candidate to whom an offer of employment has been made. The decision to offer student loan repayment is an individual compensation determination that is made on a case-by-case basis. The SLRP is not an entitlement.

The National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) will carry out NVMSA by entering into educational loan repayment agreements with veterinarians who agree to provide veterinary services in veterinarian shortage situations for a determined period of time.

If you commit to at least three years to providing veterinary services in a designated veterinary shortage area, NIFA may repay up to $25,000 of your student loan debt per year.
